Laura Footes

Born in Birmingham, Laura Footes lives and works in Margate, England. She studied at the Royal Drawing School, and has participated in residencies at The National Arts Club (New York) and The Vytlacil residency (New York) as exchange with the Art Student's League. Laura now works at TKE Studios, as part of the Tracey Emin Foundation. Laura paints autobiographically and exclusively from memory- drawing from the past when the present becomes out of control. Her paintings act as a way to temporarily regain her sense of control, capturing her demons and embedding them into the canvas.
